Summer Reading Pamphlet designed by W. Pierre-Louis

Why should I read?

Various research reveals that without practice, many students lose reading skills over the summer months. This same research also indicates that there is a strong connection between the amount of reading that students do outside of school and students' growth in vocabulary, reading, comprehension, verbal fluency, and knowledge of general information. In short, reading is fundamental for on-going academic and life success.

Summer Reading Assignment

1. Choose parent/guardian approved books of interest and at your reading level.
2. Read. Read. Read!
3. Record the titles and authors of all the books you read using the relevant log from the two provided.
4. Turn in your completed and signed log to your English teacher during the first week of school.
5. Up for a Challenge? Want a reward? Complete a Book BINGO!

Summer Reading Log

(If not participating in the Book BINGO Challenge)

Book Title and Author

Parent/Guardian's Signature _____

Book BINGO Reading Log

Use this space to record each book title and author you read based on the BINGO board. Use the second column to write in the row number. For example, if I read a book written in verse, based on the BINGO board, I would write 5 in the column next to G, followed by the title of my book and its author.

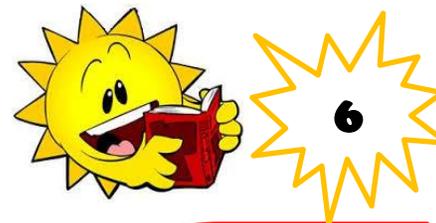

B
I
N
G
O

Book BINGO Challenge!

1. Use the BINGO board to inspire your summer reading.
2. When you finish a book that fits a specific requirement on the BINGO board, cross out the square.
3. Log the book's title and author in the appropriate space on the book BINGO log.
4. BINGO! Cross out any five squares in a row by reading 5 different books.
5. To claim your reward, turn in your completed and signed book BINGO log to your English teacher the first week of school.
6. Happy reading!
